

The Attorney General of Indiana should be heard at the national level. He speaks for the people of Indiana. He understands how important it is to the people of Indiana and the rest of the nation to have strong telephone privacy. Weakening the privacy laws so that the banking industry or other groups can intrude at their discretion would not be what the people want. Clearly the State of Indiana and the rest of the nation has been very outspoken on this issue. And the message that people are sending is that they do not want phone calls from salesmen and marketing people. We view our homes as private and we feel that we have a right to not have our privacy violated.

Thank You.

Tom
